Because fall is a busy time of year...

Prevent missed school and missed work. According to the National Foundation for Infectious Diseases, the flu costs American businesses more than $7 billion a year in sick days and lost productivity.

Protect other people. You should get vaccinated if you live with or care for others who are at high risk of complications from the flu. Flu vaccinations protect you, your family members, and your community.

Prevent severe illness. In the U.S., the flu puts about 200,000 people in the hospital each year.

Prevent flu-related death. Each year, over 36,000 people in the U.S. die because of the flu—most are 65 or older. More people die from flu than from any other vaccine-preventable disease.
